FOR after this manner in the old time the holy women also who trusted in God adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands; even as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord; whose daughters ye are as long as ye do well, and are not afraid with any amazement. Concluding the Marriage Service of the Church of England in those well-known words, my uncle Starkweather shut up his book, and looked at me across the altar rails with a hearty expression of interest on his broad, red face. At the same time my aunt, Mrs. Starkweather, standing by my side, tapped me smartly on the shoulder, and said, Valeria, you are married! Where were my thoughts What had become of my attention I was too bewildered to know. I started and looked at my new husband. He seemed to be almost as much bewildered as I was. The same thought had, as I believe, occurred to us both at the same moment. Was it really possible in spite of his mothers opposition to our marriage that we were Man and Wife My aunt Starkweather settled the question by a second tap on my shoulder. Take his arm! she whispered, in the tone of a woman who had lost all patience with me. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
