I mean (to speak practically) the concentration of power in the executive branch of the Government of the United States. It is worthy of serious notice that in a paper emanating, as this does, from the President himself, and which professes to set forth to a free people the most prominent dangers which threaten their liberties, and to awaken their vigilance against those evil tendencies which lurk in the system, the one which has always proved the most fatal - the tendency of power to accumulate in the hands of one man, and the grasping and monopolizing tendency of that power - is altogether omitted. Why is this? Why not admonish the people, when speaking of the tendencies of wealth in banks or elsewhere, that there was another most formidable danger in this and in every other free Government, which united all...
