He is not here, but is risen. The Church, this morning, hastens, with the amiable women whose affection for Jesus was stronger than death, to the sepulchre of their departed Lord. At the mouth of the tomb, they were met by two men of wonderful appearance; their countenances like lightning, and their raiment white as snow. As they stoop to look into the sepulchre, these messengers from the court of heaven, for such they are, address to them tidings, which disperse their sorrows and fill their bosoms with rapturous joy: Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen. Come see the place where the Lord lay. They descend into the sepulchre. Jesus is not there. They see the linen clothes lie, and the napkin that was about His head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself. They remember that thus it was written, that when He had suffered, He should rise from the dead, the third day. Transported with admiration, they send forth their praises unto God.
